Bbc Summer Internships 2025 Digital Lawyer

Description

Are you a law student looking to explore the exciting intersection of law and technology? Look no further than the BBC's Summer Internship 2024 program! The Digital Lawyer internship based in Long Ashton, Bristol, will provide you with a unique opportunity to gain hands-on experience working in a cutting-edge legal team that advises the BBC on all aspects of digital media.

Responsibilities

As a Digital Lawyer intern, you will have the opportunity to work on a variety of legal issues related to digital media, such as copyright, data protection, and content regulation. You will assist in drafting and reviewing contracts, providing legal advice on digital products, and ensuring compliance with relevant laws and regulations. You will also work closely with other legal and business teams within the BBC to deliver high-quality legal advice.

Qualifications

To be eligible for this internship, you should be a law student who is currently enrolled in an accredited law program. You should also have a strong academic record and excellent communication skills. Experience or coursework related to technology or media law would be an asset but not a requirement.

Experience

While prior legal experience is not required, you should have a genuine interest in technology and digital media, and an eagerness to learn about the legal issues surrounding them. You should also be able to work independently and collaboratively, and have excellent attention to detail.

Skills

In addition to strong communication skills and attention to detail, you should have a strong analytical and problem-solving skills. You should be able to think creatively and approach legal problems from multiple perspectives. Familiarity with relevant legal frameworks and principles would be an asset.

Job Benefits

As a Digital Lawyer intern with the BBC, you will have the opportunity to work with a team of experienced lawyers and gain invaluable experience in the field of media and technology law. You will receive a competitive salary and benefits package and have access to the BBC's resources and network. You will also have the opportunity to attend training sessions and workshops to develop your legal and professional skills.
